Design

A chair that is comfortable and has many functions truly called a good chair?
A chair that has the ability to accommodate almost any interior space an essential chair? As an individual myself, I pursued what I wanted to be, the true existence of a chair.
Kazutaka Oki

Can a chair be a source of motivation that could enhance your work?

It is known that a normal person can display much greater strength when using the same tools as pro-athlete. Clearly, this depends on the efficiency of the tools that are used, but there is a psychological aspect that plays a big part by using the same tools. The AIRGRACE has been developed by targeting this psychological effect and at the same time reflect an elegant and refined form. A chair that can enhance performance and has the capability to change a person's state of mind in a positive manner, this was our mission when we were developing the AIRGRACE.

Air-Lumbar support- To offer a pleasant sitting experience to a wide range of body postures and physiques.

The lumbar-support is an integral part of the chair that offers support to diverse shapes of body postures. Our belief is that the lumbar-support is not just meant for sophisticated design and upmarket chairs, but is an indispensable function that is essential for all office workers at large. The lumbar-support function was first developed for the AIRFORT chair, as we strived to adopt an air-lumbar mechanism that is efficient in design and less sophisticated, which in turn, made possible for us to integrate this important element on the AIRGARCE. It is our belief and desire to bring the most important element; the air-lumbar support to a diverse group of people.
